CHAPUIS

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RIFLE
5A-Grade walnut

A Premium Line to Make You Stand Out

Chapuis Armes is a family-based French manufacturer of premium-grade rifles and shotguns. It is located near Saint-Etienne in France, a gunmaking area that for centuries has produced some of the most trusted (and copied) firearms in history. It is in fact from the Saint-Etienne arsenal that came the legendary French M. 1777 musket—which helped our young nation win the War of Independence, and which was emulated by the Springfield arsenal to become America’s first regulation musket.

Owning a Chapuis premium gun is for the connoisseur. Chapuis produces a finite number of firearms a year while insisting upon absolute beauty and reliability. This is why having a Chapuis firearm makes a statement: if I own a Chapuis, I did my research, I went off the beaten path and I have gained a unique, stunning, and absolutely reliable adventure companion. For life.

But don’t take our word for it. When you see a Chapuis, you’ll be immediately impressed by the sheer beauty of the firearm. Chapuis wood is—quite literally—second to none, while Chapuis engraving (be it laser- or hand-etched) is a work of art in itself. And talk to many of the most seasoned African dangerous-game professionals, and they will tell you that they trust their life to a Chapuis rifle.

Chapuis premium shotguns and double rifles come with a finely-engraved receiver. Depending on the gun, it features various game scenes framed by superbly-intricate lace-like scrolls. Starting at grade 3, Chapuis wood is hand-selected, meaning that it will outclass in beauty guns costing several times as much.

Élan Double Rifle

The Choice of African Professionals

ÉLAN ARTISAN DOUBLE RIFLE
5A-Grade walnut

ÉLAN CLASSIC DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Élan (French for “dashing, spirit”) double rifle is built around the svelte, traditional lines of the firearms carried in the golden age of African safaris. It features either a laser-engraved scalloped boxlock action (Classic grade) or hand-engraved sideplates (Artisan grade), with a classic stock sporting a cheekpiece and a tasteful recoil-soaking rubber pad. The Circassian walnut is hand-selected, as with all Chapuis premium guns.

The barrels are topped by a rib that gives you the traditional graduated V-shaped express sights as well as the option to attach Recknagel scope mounts with no modification. Chapuis double rifles have earned a rightful reputation as some of the most reliable and durable of their kind, making them a favorite among African professionals.

The Élan double rifles come standard in two hard-hitting rimmed cartridges for absolutely positive extraction. The versatile .450-400 NE and the .470 NE have been African favorites for over a century.

Iphisi Double Rifle

The All-Purpose Double Rifle

IPHISI DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Iphisi is embellished with several exquisite touches. The glossy blue top lever, triggerguard and grip-cap make a fine contrast with the marble-like colorcase finish of the receiver. A discrete but beautiful scroll engraving borders the receiver as well as the barrels, forend latch, grip-cap, tang, and top rib. On the receiver's underside, the model name is enclosed in an engraved Zulu warrior's shield, in conformity with the spirit of this rifle.

Lastly, we have made the Iphisi easy and convenient to scope. The top rib is machined to accept Talley rings. Make sure you select a model that tightens through an Allen key, since the barrels would get in the way of the fins of a quick-detachable model. For best results, please select high or extra-high model rings. Also, by unscrewing and removing the existing Talley bases, Recknagel pivot mounts may be used (item numbers 66007, 66008, 66009—see page 18).

In his immortal work African Rifles and Cartridges, John "Pondoro" Taylor speaks of what he considers the ideal all-purpose rifle for the ambitious hunter: his choice is a scoped .375 H&H double rifle, light enough to be pleasant to carry but still heavy enough to be pleasant to shoot. It is in this spirit that Chapuis has created the Iphisi double rifle, available in the powerful and versatile .375 H&H (.375 Belted Rimless Magnum and, new for 2025, .450-400 NE). If a hunter already possesses a bolt rifle in .375 H&H, the Iphisi takes the same cartridge, offering the additional advantage of ammo compatibility.

The Iphisi (iziZulu for "big-game hunter") is a beautiful, yet no-nonsense double rifle designed to be the ultimate all-around companion for any hunting adventure worldwide. Built around the vault-like, proven Chapuis

AGEX action, it features sleek, classic lines, a handsome colorcase receiver with minimal engraving, a AAA-grade Circassian walnut stock with English-style cheekpiece, and traditional three-leaf express sights. In addition, the Iphisi is machined to accept readily-available Talley rings, so that the user can easily mount his favorite scope. And by removing the existing Talley bases, the Iphisi takes the same Recknagel pivot mounts as the Elan. The sleek 26" barrels come regulated for the Hornady DGX factory load, but thanks to Chapuis' patented regulating mechanism, a competent gunsmith can easily re-regulate it for a hunter's favorite combination.

In sum, the Iphisi was conceived from the ground up to be handsome, durable, reliable, and eminently suited to take any game on Planet Earth under most conditions.

X4 Double Rifle

A Trim, Petite Double Rifle giving Easy Re-regulation

X4 DOUBLE RIFLE
AAA-Grade walnut

The Chapuis X4 is built on a Progress 28-gauge scalloped receiver, beautifully engraved. Shown here is one of the many versions they have made, embellished with a European wild boar.

Pick up a Chapuis X4 double rifle and you'll feel like you are holding a little jewel. Built on a sub-gauge shotgun action and sporting lightweight 22" barrels, the X4 is perfect for the hunter looking for a quick-handling, light and trim double rifle. Originally conceived for European-style driven game, this big rifle in a small package is offered in the hard-hitting 9.3x74R and the versatile .30-06 chamberings.

But in spite of its classic lines, scroll engraving, and beautiful grade-3 Circassian walnut with English-style cheekpiece, the X4 ushers in a new patented technology that makes it unique and uniquely-versatile.

As most double-rifle aficionados know, the slightest alteration in load, bullet weight, bullet shape—and sometimes even the addition of a scope—can upset the original regulation of the barrels. Re-regulation is a fairly complex process involving re-soldering and re-bluing the barrels. With the X4, Chapuis has solved this age-old problem by free-floating the right barrel: a guiding ring at the muzzles can be adjusted by a professional gunsmith to make the barrels converge with your new load—with no alteration whatsoever to the rifle.

What this means is that the X4 is always ready for your next hog, whitetail, bear, elk or eland—scoped or unscoped. And it gives you the confidence that your favorite load will always fly true to where you aim.

This is the basis of the X4's technology: the right barrel is discretely free-floated from both the left barrel and the central rib. An adjustable ring holds the barrels together at the muzzles and may be tweaked by a competent gunsmith to re-regulate the point of convergence of the shots.

Chasseur Side-by-Side

The Most Classic of Classic Choices

CHASSEUR CLASSIC SIDE-BY-SIDE

AAA-Grade walnut

There are no two ways about it. Show up to an upland hunt with a premium side-by-side, and you make a statement even without saying a word. I am traditional. My gun is so much more than a tool. To me, hunting is equally about the ritual, about timeless elegance and taste, as it is about hitting birds. And most importantly, I don't want to be like everyone else.

The Chapuis Chasseur (French for "hunter") gives you all that and much more. While being built around the most classic lines of a side-by-side, it offers automatic safety, ejectors, plus the modern convenience of interchangeable flush chokes. And with the Circassian Walnut stock for which Chapuis is rightfully famous, we would be extremely surprised if your shotgun wasn't—each time—the most admired gun in the field.

The Chasseur comes in two grades: Classic (laser engraved, grade 3 wood) or Artisan grade (hand-engraved, grade 5 wood). Both feature a vault-like action, solid rib and straight, English-style stock.

The Chasseur is available in 3 gauges: 12, 20 and 28, with a barrel length of 27.5 or 28 inches. It comes standard with double triggers, auto safety, ejectors and five interchangeable flush choke tubes.

FAISAN CLASSIC OVER/UNDER

AAA-Grade walnut

The Faisan (French for "pheasant") is designed to achieve two goals: offering you the perfect and most functional upland over/under while making you stand out for the beauty of the premium-grade wood and the uniqueness and prestige of the brand you carry. The action of the Faisan is built from a single block of forged steel for maximum resistance and durability. And the action's profile is low, meaning that your supporting hand will be very close to the bore axis for instinctive pointability under most hunting circumstances.

The Faisan comes standard with a ventilated rib, five flush choke tubes, ejectors and auto safety. The stunning, hand-selected Circassian walnut stock (Classic: grade 3; Artisan: grade 5) features a checkered pistol grip for positive purchase, and a tasteful checkered walnut butt plate.

The Faisan is offered in four gauges: 12, 20, 28, and .410 – each with its own receiver size. Engraving is a classic, intricate scroll with game scenes. Single trigger and pistol-grip stock with checkered butt.

Like all ROLS models, the Deluxe offers lightning-quick follow-up shots as well as absolute safety when the rifle is fired. The bolt handle is an attractive sphere made of the same wood as the stock.

With the straight-pull concept making a resurgence, Chapuis has entered the fray with the superlative ROLS rifle. Compared to other brands, it is lighter and trimmer thanks to a unique locking design tested to safely withstand up to 123,000 PSI.

The ROLS also offers:

- Interchangeable barrels though a single captive screw (other calibers by special order)
- True detachable magazine—4-round (standard calibers), 3-round (magnums)
- Sub-MOA accuracy guaranteed
- Positive, repeatable scope mounting system with 5 locking points (see page 18)
- Thumb-activated safety-decocker
- Internal safety prevents accidental firing unless bolt is pushed all the way home

Lightning-fast to operate, absolutely safe, trim and unique, the ROLS is for the big-game hunter who values premium quality, quick follow-up shots, superb accuracy, versatility, portability, as well as the chance to stand out from the pack.

The ROLS features a smooth-feeding, detachable rotary magazine. The magazine is designed so as to eliminate the possibility of accidental release: to remove it, a button must be pressed to open the trigger floorplate, which then gives access to the magazine. Loading the magazine can be done after performing this operation, or simply from the top when the magazine is inserted in the rifle.
